6-10-2015 Incidents Caught on Video... REDMOND, Wash. — There is nothing ordinary about Surface Hub, a gargantuan touch-screen computer that Microsoft is about to start selling to companies as a high-tech replacement for conference room whiteboards. The largest Surface Hub, measuring 84 inches diagonally, looks like an iPad that has gone through a growth spurt. The 4K resolution of the screen produces dazzling images. At $20,000 apiece, a price Microsoft plans to announce on Wednesday, it should.

6-10-2015 The University of Kentucky Prevention Research Center's (PRC) success with a cervical cancer prevention DVD, known as 1-2-3 Pap, has led to improved completion of the human papillomavirus (HPV) vaccine series. The HPV vaccine can protect against two types of HPV that cause 70% of cervical cancer cases. While it is important for girls and women to receive all three doses of the vaccine, they do not always complete all three in the series. Completion requires girls to return to the clinic twice to receive the second dose at 2 months and the third dose after 6 months of the original dose. To help prevent cervical cancer, researchers at the University of Kentucky PRC developed and tested 1-2-3-Pap, an educational video that encourages young adult women in rural Appalachian Kentucky to complete the series. Out of 178 young women who watched the video, 77 completed the series. Of those who did not watch the video (166 young women), 53 completed the series. Researchers found that participants who viewed the video were more than twice as likely (2.44 times) to complete the series than those who did not.

6-10-2015 Incidents Caught on Video... Con Edison and New York City Are Faulted in East Harlem Explosion By PATRICK MCGEEHAN WASHINGTON — An explosion in East Harlem that killed eight people last year would not have happened if two of Consolidated Edison's gas pipes had been welded together properly, federal regulators said on Tuesday. But the regulators at the National Transportation Safety Board also said that the faulty connection between those pipes might not have ended so disastrously had New York City repaired a gaping hole in a nearby sewer main that it had known about for at least eight years. Those two failings combined to cause the blast and ensuing fire, which destroyed two five-story apartment buildings on Park Avenue, displacing more than 100 families and several small businesses, the safety board concluded at a meeting here. "These factors aligned to create the accident, but there were others," said Christopher A. Hart, the chairman of the safety board. Among them, he said, were the failure of neighborhood residents to report the gas odor they noticed and the failure of Con Edison to notify the Fire Department as soon as somebody alerted the company.
