Grin. Mary Alone on the porch of the Little Room Jazz Bar as I bike by... all alone on both sides of the tables frantically calling for company so I called her. You want some company sitting out front on the Porch to talk to Greg. Not Really in a so so tone of voice, nothing high or low except for being alone at the bar taking Gregs cell call. Yes Mary was alone at the bar too. Lets talk about the Lecture by John Hemingway. I know him from so and so... lets talk about Dr. Gregory Hemingway wanting to be a women. 1-12-2015 Yale Cross Campus News By The Yale Daily News. Welcome back. Whether you spent break in the sun or the snow, the daily grind begins anew today, here in wintry New Haven. May the seniors choose their final classes wisely, may the freshmen learn from the mistakes they inevitably made last fall and may we all make it to May 6 whole, warm and sane. Gourmet Purgatory. For a few days this break, blacked-out windows fueled speculation that Gourmet Heaven had prematurely closed its doors for good. But the deli has restarted operations since, temporarily fighting off death before actually meeting its inevitable, grim fate. In all its glory. Yale's crown jewel, the Sterling Memorial Library, shone brightly in a prominent New York Times article published over break. "A Piece of Yale's Library Is Brought Back to Life" did justice to both Sterling's post-renovation grandeur and the campus-wide relief that the scaffolding is finally down.
