2-15-2015 It's Over for "American Sniper" Rage Shooting... A Las Vegas mother who was shot after an apparent road rage incident died late Saturday night, hospital officials said Sunday morning. Tammy Meyers, 44, had been teaching her 14-year-old daughter to drive when she was followed home by an angry driver on Thursday, her husband Robert Meyers told NBC station KSNV. Meyers was behind wheel when she was involved in a near-collision which led to a verbal confrontation between her and the other male driver, police said in a statement. She drove her daughter home to summon help from her 23-year-old son - but was followed home. "The preliminary investigation indicates that some time later, the suspect vehicle appeared on the street, multiple shots were fired, and the victim was struck by one round," the statement said. The suspect remains at large after Thursday night's attack. Las Vegas police described him as a white male adult approximately 25 years of age,

2-14-2015 It's a Pacifist Valentines Day, (4 MD Wives) Coup D'Etat, 1984 II Numb Nuts Dictators in the USA have thwarted Gregs 20 + year old invention project of OVERPASS + UNDERPASS AT EVERY NYC INTERSECTION causing many massacres... Mayor Bill de Blasio's initiative to eliminate pedestrian deaths. Hell Mayor of NYC years before 9/11 knew about OVERPASS + UNDERPASS AT EVERY NYC INTERSECTION. NY Times Ben knew too and will not write this up. Another War Crime! Teenager Pinned Under Bus in Brooklyn; Driver Charged By BENJAMIN MUELLER FEB. 13, 2015 A bus driver with the Metropolitan Transportation Authority was arrested and charged with failing to yield after his bus struck a 15-year-old girl on Friday, severely injuring her leg, officials said. The accident and resulting arrest, coming two months after a New York City bus driver was charged in the death of a pedestrian, reignited tensions between city officials and the transport workers' union over the successful push to make the failure to yield a misdemeanor. The Q59 bus was moving south on Union Avenue in Williamsburg, Brooklyn, around 8:45 a.m. when the driver, Francisco DeJesus, turned left onto Grand Avenue, the police said. The 15-year-old girl who had a walk signal was in the crosswalk. The girl was pinned under the front of the bus, the police said, and was taken to Bellevue Hospital Center, but the injuries were not considered life-threatening. Mr. DeJesus, 58, who remained at the scene, was charged with failure to yield, a misdemeanor, and failure to exercise due care. He was treated at the hospital and was traumatized by the accident, his union, the Transport Workers Union Local 100, said. Mr. DeJesus, a 30-year veteran of the authority, will be held out of service pending the outcome of an investigation, a spokesman for agency said. The union's president, John Samuelson, called the girl's injury a tragedy but said the city and its police force were putting drivers in an impossible situation by arresting them for accidents. "They navigate incredibly difficult streets loaded with pedestrians, and they do this without any enforcement on the pedestrian end of things," Mr. Samuelson said, adding, "To arrest an operator for an unintentional accident is really just absolutely outrageous, illogical and anti-worker." In December, another driver with the transportation authority, Reginald

Prescott, was arrested after his bus struck and killed a 78 - year-old man in Brooklyn. In a statement, Paul Steely White, the executive director of the advocacy group Transportation Alternatives, commended the police for using a city law passed last year to charge Mr. DeJesus with failing to yield. City bus drivers, he said, "should be setting the standard for driver behavior in the Vision Zero era," referring to Mayor Bill de Blasio's initiative to eliminate pedestrian deaths. 1984 II Numb Nuts Dictators in the USA have thwarted Gregs 20 + year old invention project of OVERPASS + UNDERPASS AT EVERY NYC INTERSECTION causing many massacres... Goddess of Inspiration and More Women talk to God. More Men are "American Snipers" killing God, The Universe and Soul-Mates for the next 4 Trillion Years! Young and middle-aged women experience more stress than their male counterparts, which could contribute to worse recovery from acute myocardial infarction (AMI), according to new findings by Yale School of Medicine researchers and their colleagues. The findings appear in the current issue of Circulation. "Women tend to report greater stress and more stressful life events than men, potentially because of their different roles in family life and work, as compared to men," said first author Xiao Xu, assistant professor in the Department of Obstetrics, Gynecology & Reproductive Sciences at Yale School of Medicine. "This difference in the level of stress may be an important reason for sex-based differences in recovery after acute myocardial infarction."
