YOUNTVILLE, Calif. — Perhaps it began with the red Adidas gym bag stuffed with $800,000 in cash. Then came the trail of overhyped and failed wine ventures here in the heart of Napa Valley, and the furious court battles between Robert Dahl, who ran a struggling vineyard, and his chief investor, Emad Tawfilis, who had willingly handed over the gym bag to offer the vintner seed capital. Their dispute, in a region where money flows like, well, wine, climaxed Monday in the style of a pulp fiction thriller, with a wounded Mr. Tawfilis racing frantically through the grapevines as Mr. Dahl, carrying a silencer-equipped .22-caliber semiautomatic pistol and driving a black sport utility vehicle, methodically pursued and then killed him in sight of arriving sheriff's deputies. Mr. Dahl, 47, a former Minnesotan with a checkered background, later shot himself to death as officers closed in!

3-18-2015 "Foreseeable Future" 1.6 million breast biopsies, unless the 4 MD Wives Coup D'Etat is successful! SWF in the USA in 2015 will have 1.6 million breast biopsies, about 20 percent of the tests find cancer. Ten percent identify atypia, a finding that cells inside breast ducts are abnormal but not cancerous. About 60,000 women each year are found to have ductal carcinoma in situ, or D.C.I.S., which also refers to abnormal cells that are confined inside the milk ducts and so are not considered invasive; experts disagree about whether D.C.I.S. is cancer. "It is often thought that getting the biopsy will give definitive answers, but our study says maybe it won't," said Dr. Joann G. Elmore, a professor at the University of Washington School of Medicine in Seattle and the first author of the new study on the accuracy of breast biopsies. Her team asked pathologists to examine biopsy slides, then compared their diagnoses with those given by a panel of leading experts who had seen the same slides. There were some important differences, especially in the gray zone. An editorial in JAMA called the findings "disconcerting." It said the study should be a call to action for pathologists and breast cancer scientists to improve the accuracy of biopsy readings, by consulting with one another more often on challenging cases and by creating clearer definitions for various abnormalities so that diagnoses will be more consistent and precise. The editorial also recommended second opinions in ambiguous cases.

Key West other Front Page new is Sue Fogarty's owner Joe Walsh in Key West who owns 7 Bars on Duval for a Drunk Driver Crash that killed... Widower sues bar over wife's death. BY ADAM LINHARDT Citizen Staff alinhardt@keysnews.com The husband of a woman killed in an alleged drunk driving car crash filed a civil lawsuit against the suspect driver's former employer, claiming Fogarty's is liable for the wreck. The lawsuit can be certified under the law that governs bars, restaurants and liquor stores that serve alcohol to visibly drunk customers who later kill or injure others who otherwise have no relationship to the business. Timothy Christopher Cherry, former husband of Karen Jean Cherry, as well as Robert Browning Tosi and Arline Rae Tosi claim that Fogarty's was negligent in that it knew, or should have known, that its employee at the time, Daniel Mira Jr., 36, of the 19000 block of Mira Road on Sugarloaf Key, was intoxicated when he left work on Oct. 31, 2014. Police allege Mira drove a Nissan Altima into two scooters driven by the two couples at 10:17 p.m. at North Roosevelt Boulevard and 14th Street. Karen Cherry, 54, of Sunset Marina and formerly of Portsmouth, N.H., was killed. She was pronounced dead at Lower Keys Medical Center shortly after the crash.

3-18-2015 One killed in U.S. 1 crash Key West Citizen - Wednesday, March 18, 2015 One person was killed and numerous people injured in a three-vehicle crash on U.S. 1 Tuesday around 7 p.m. The wreck closed the highway in both directions for hours. Third dead this year for Key West. "We are very sorry for the tragic death of Karen Cherry and the injuries suffered by Timothy Cherry, Robert Tosi's and Arline Tosi," said Fogarty's owner Joe Walsh in a prepared release. "He [Daniel Mira] was not working at the time of the accident, and while our hearts go out to the Cherry family, Fogarty's is not financially responsible for the actions of its employees when they are not working." The company that owns Fogarty's, Hayes Robertson Group Inc., was also listed as defendant in the case. Walsh is president of that prominent Key West company that also owns Mangoes Restaurant, Caroline's Cafe, Jack Flat's and Red Fish Blue Fish.

Better Way of Scrubbing CO₂: Berkeley Lab Researchers Find Way to Improve the Cost-Effectiveness Through the Use of MOFs A means by which the removal of carbon dioxide (CO₂) from coal-fired power plants might one day be done far more efficiently and at far lower costs than today has been discovered by a team of researchers with the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE)'s Lawrence Berkeley National Laboratory (Berkeley Lab). By appending a diamine molecule to the sponge-like solid materials known as metal-organic-frameworks (MOFs), the researchers were able to more than triple the CO₂-scrubbing capacity of the MOFs, while significantly reducing parasitic energy. "We've shown that diamine-appended MOFs can function as phase-change CO₂ adsorbents, with unusual step-shaped CO₂ adsorption isotherms that shift markedly with temperature and result in a much higher separation capacity," says Jeffrey Long, a chemist with Berkeley Lab's Materials Sciences Division and the University of California (UC) Berkeley. "The step-shaped adsorption isotherms are the product of an unprecedented cooperative process in which CO₂ molecules insert into metal-amine bonds, inducing a reorganization of the amines into well-ordered chains of ammonium carbamate." Details on this research are reported in a paper published in the journal Nature. The paper is titled "Cooperative insertion of CO₂ in diamine-appended metal-organic frameworks."

Long is the corresponding author. The lead authors are Thomas McDonald and Jarad Mason. (See below for a complete list of co-authors. Approximately 13 billion tons of carbon dioxide are released into the atmosphere each year as a result of burning coal for the production of electricity. These carbon emissions are major contributors to global climate change and the acidification of our planet's oceans. However, given that the United States holds the world's largest estimated recoverable reserves of coal, coal-burning power plants will continue to be a major source of our nation's electricity generation for the foreseeable future.
