3-26-2015 33 mins ago... Pilot crash the plane, Wow! PARIS — The chief Marseille prosecutor handling the investigation into the crash of a Germanwings jetliner said on Thursday that evidence from the cockpit voice recorder indicated that the co-pilot had deliberately locked the captain out of the cockpit and steered the plane into its fatal descent. Mr. Lubitz, who was 28 years old and came from the German town of Montabaur. In 1999, after a Cairo-bound EgyptAir flight crashed in the Atlantic Ocean off Nantucket, Mass., killing 217 people, investigators at the time said they suspected that the co-pilot might have attempted suicide. Stefan Schaffrath, an Airbus spokesman, said on Thursday that in the wake of the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorist attacks in the United States, Airbus had upgraded the reinforcements of cockpit doors on its planes in compliance with international regulations. 9/11 would never have happened if Airbus 1984 II Numb Nuts would have LEAKED the suppression of the Electric Windmill Ford Escort. 1 Trillion suicides would never have happened too with the euphoria of the Electric Windmill Ford Escort and 10 cent a gallon gasoline, end to Smog.

No Emergency way to enter the cockpit, Why? After all the Sony Movies too! Brilliant conversationalists who can enliven this!! "Germanwings Pilot Was Locked Out of Cockpit Before Crash in France" By NICOLA CLARK and DAN BILEFSKY NY Times As officials struggled to explain why a jet with 150 people on board crashed, an investigator said evidence indicated that one pilot left the cockpit and was unable to get back in. Key West, Mary at the Willie T's bar and I could hear her Biking by her on Duval... yes Mary can be loud as this 1984 II Society sucker punched her. Well Brainstorming in Key West hearing Mary's voice as I biked by her on Duval I thought of "Ejection Seats... all 150 seats" ejected at the same time!! Today we read the Pilot was trying to kick the door in as the plane descended into a mountain. 150 Seats Ejected as one at the same time are for Star Travels by Boeing Engineers. Give them some time to Engineer a emergency door for a pilot kicking it in... idiot proof is every Engineers "Din" every day of their life every Engineer thinks... I have to "idiot" proof this! He is thinking of Mary + Greg as the Idiots... grin!

FBI CIA 1 Trillion Banks not robbed, gas stations in Miami too if the Electric Windmill Ford Escort was in full production since 1980, CHICAGO – An afternoon of gunfire and fear in eastern Wisconsin ended Tuesday with a devastating toll: Two banks robbed, a bystander shot dead and a rookie state trooper, on his first day patrolling solo, slain in a firefight while confronting and killing the suspect. Trooper Casper, 21, did not turn on his siren or lights as he tailed the suspect, Steven T. Snyder. Though the authorities did not release details of the confrontation, both men died in an exchange of gunfire near a middle school and a grocery. Thomas C. Christ, 59, was found fatally shot on a roadside. Sheriff Jerry Sauve of Marinette County, which includes Wausaukee, said the robber probably killed Mr. Christ before fleeing to Fond du Lac, where a second bank was robbed. 3-25-2015 The plane, an Airbus A320 that carried young people, vacationers and others, crashed after an eight-minute descent from 38,000 feet Digne-les-Bains, a town close to the crash site, described a scene of almost unimaginable wreckage, with even the plane's metal structures smashed into countless pieces. "The airplane had completely disintegrated," Capt. Benoit Zeisser, head of the center of operations and information for the local police in Digne-les-Bains, said late Tuesday. "There is nothing left; the area of the crash is huge."

3-25-2015 Willie T's...you may be fortunate enough to know some brilliant conversationalists who can enliven any discussion and who are excellent company whatever... with Mary can "Brainstorm" an waterproof iPhone 6 + alarm for these deaths... sheriff's office Tuesday identified two men in their 70s who died snorkeling in Key West the day before and released details about a third water death in Key Largo. Richard Gueringer, 71, of San Antonio, Texas, was pronounced dead on arrival at Lower Keys Medical Center after he became unconscious while snorkeling Monday, according to Deputy Becky Herrin. Gueringer and his domestic partner were on a Fury boat snorkel trip and left the boat together, Herrin said. Gueringer entered the water "more quickly," deputies said, and when spotted unconscious was pulled onto the boat. CPR was performed on the boat, Herrin said. Both men were experienced scuba divers, deputies reported. Also on Monday, Larry Coltrin, 72, from Schauwburg, Ill., died after he became unconscious snorkeling in the Dry Tortugas. In Key Largo on Monday, an Illinois woman died after snorkeling offshore on Molasses Reef, deputies said. Julia Thien was visiting Key Largo with her husband and other relatives and were aboard Keys Diver II, owned by Keys Water Adventures, Inc., when she went into the water and reportedly began "having trouble," Herrin said. Thien was pulled back onboard and was given CPR. She was taken to shore where paramedics took over, but was later pronounced dead at Mariner's Hospital. Autopsies were scheduled.

3-25-2015 Yale Campus News Today... U.S., for example, has spent $750 million on aid to sub-Saharan African countries for Ebola relief, yet pharmaceutical companies have not brought an Ebola vaccine to the human trial phase, even though one of those vaccines has been shown to be effective in animals. Karan said this is likely due to the fact that those who would need the vaccine cannot pay for it.

"Infectious diseases strike where they can spread, not necessarily where people can afford to pay profitable prices for medicines," said Kristina Talbert-Slagle GRD '10, senior scientific officer for the Yale Global Health Leadership Institute. "The Ebola outbreak has forced us all to take a careful look at whether and how we are preparing for infectious disease outbreaks."
