3-27-2015 "Post 9/11, Electric Windmill Ford Escort in Times Square on 9/11... "Suicide by Plane Crash Is Rare but Not Without Precedent" By ERICA GOODE NY Times... The crash of Egypt Airlines Flight 990 off Nantucket, Mass., in 1999, which killed all 217 people on board, was also caused by deliberate action, a National Transportation Safety Board investigation concluded. A relief pilot, Gameel al-Batouti, waited for the captain to leave the cockpit and then disengaged the autopilot. As the plane descended, he could be heard saying in Arabic, "I rely on God," over and over. Aircraft-assisted pilot suicides," as the Federal Aviation Administration calls them, are rare. They include the November 2013 crash of a Mozambique Airlines plane bound for Luanda, Angola, which bears an eerie resemblance to the Germanwings plane's demise. When the flight's co-pilot left to use the lavatory, the captain locked him out of the cockpit and manually steered the aircraft earthward. On the plane's black box recorder, officials said, the co-pilot could be heard knocking on the cockpit door. According to a study conducted for the F.A.A. and published in 2014, out of 2,758 aviation accidents recorded by the agency from 2003 to 2012, only eight were determined to be suicides. The pilots of all the flights were male, the study found, and ranged in age from 21 to 68. Four had been drinking and two were taking antidepressant drugs at the time of the crash. A History of Crashes Caused by Pilots' Intentional Acts The researchers, led by Russell J. Lewis of the agency's Civil Aerospace Medical Institute, found that five of the pilots had given hints of their intentions to others before their final flight. In another case, a 47-year-old student pilot who was involved in a custody dispute took off in a Cessna 150 with a child passenger. After flying for an hour and half, the plane headed back for the airport but then took a steep dive, crashing into the pilot's ex-mother-in-law's house, according to the F.A.A. study. The pilot and child were killed. Dr. Cornette said that it was entirely possible that someone who was suicidal could pass psychological exams and receive a clean bill of health. "People know what's going to raise a red flag," she said.

3-26-2015 33 mins ago... Pilot crash the plane, Wow! PARIS — The chief Marseille prosecutor handling the investigation into the crash of a Germanwings jetliner said on Thursday that evidence from the cockpit voice recorder indicated that the co-pilot had deliberately locked the captain out of the cockpit and steered the plane into its fatal descent. Mr.

Lubitz, who was 28 years old and came from the German town of Montabaur. In 1999, after a Cairo-bound EgyptAir flight crashed in the Atlantic Ocean off Nantucket, Mass., killing 217 people, investigators at the time said they suspected that the co-pilot might have attempted suicide. Stefan Schaffrath, an Airbus spokesman, said on Thursday that in the wake of the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorist attacks in the United States, Airbus had upgraded the reinforcements of cockpit doors on its planes in compliance with international regulations. 9/11 would never have happened if Airbus 1984 II Numb-Nuts would have LEAKED the suppression of the Electric Windmill Ford Escort. 1 Trillion suicides would never have happened too with the euphoria of the Electric Windmill Ford Escort and 10 cent a gallon gasoline, end to Smog.
