Low-Cost Sterile Drill Covers for Surgery - Interview with Lawrence Buchan, Cofounder of Arbutus Medical
Low-Cost Sterile Drill Covers for Surgery - The setting: In low-resource countries, rapid motorization in the last 10 years has led to increasing traffic accidents, which often result in bone fractures. In Uganda alone, hospitals admit 10,000 road-traffic accident patients each year. Currently, low and middle income countries (LMICs) account for 90% of the road-traffic accident trauma burden in the entire world, but only have 10% of the world's surgical resources - their hospitals cannot afford the proper equipment to provide timely and effective care. One of the biggest factors: a low supply of surgical drills, which severely limits the ability of orthopedic surgeons to care for trauma patients with broken bones. With infection rates ranging from 10-70%, and 3-4 week delays from surgery causing long-term disabilities, this is a major area needing improvement. Without the proper resources, many hospitals in developing countries resort to hand-powered drills: old-fashioned hand-and-crank powered devices. Imagine a team of expertly-trained doctors and nurses providing emergency medical care for a trauma patient by slowly turning a drill bit with an eggbeater. Using this, a single hole into bone can take upwards of 10 minutes to drill, and can be dangerous because of the lack of accuracy and extra push force required to carve it out.
