10-9-2015 When it comes to his daughter Lisa (played successively, and beautifully, by Makenzie Moss, Ripley Sobo and Perla Haney-Jardine), he tries at first to deny his paternity altogether. Lisa's mother, Chrisann Brennan (Katherine Waterston), is portrayed as needy and unstable, while Lisa herself is, so to speak, an apple that fell close to the paternal tree. She is not in the movie to humanize him – Jobs's wife and other children are not in the movie at all – but rather to help us measure, by means of a dramatically necessary shorthand, just how complicated he is. Lunch Meat conversations between Steve + his wife are not in the Movie.
"Steve Jobs" is rated R (Under 17 requires accompanying parent or adult guardian). MD rated movie on Steve Jobs will come out next...

Hillary had her hand chopped off on her last visit to Saudi Arabia. Statistics from the NY Times about 93 shootings a day, half murder-suicide. Wait until the 1984 III NY Times prints the statistics on how many SWF had their hand chopped off in Saudi Arabia from 1980 to 2015.

MD Wives Coup D'Etat Yale Daily News crosscampus@yaledailynews.com Today's news about... MIT's 2018 Class Council is hosting a unique event on campus tonight, inviting the sophomore classes of MIT and Harvard to mingle at a mixer. We hope this doesn't lead to brainstorming as no MD students have been invited so any brainstorming accidents, "serendipity" there will not be a Doctor in the House, grin. A twenty-nine-year-old male was shot in the chest while sitting in a parked car on Chapel Street last night. According to the New Haven Police Department, the homicide occurred just west of the Ella T.
Grasso Boulevard. Emergency responders were dispatched to the scene at 7:40 p.m. The male, identified by police as Antwan Heath, was pronounced dead at Yale-New Haven Hospital at 8:09 p.m. The black suspects remain at large and are considered armed and dangerous, police said. This is one of 93 Shooting Deaths that happened yesterday. Yale Daily News needs to write up all 93 in one days edition of the Campus Paper! With an IP invention project and links to get you brainstorming. Beat Harvard at this one IP.

System Used for First Time. KB Medical, a Swiss firm, has announced that its AQRate robotic system has been used in a lumbar fusion procedure at the Neurosurgery. Neurosurgery

Department of Hôpital du Valais in Sion, Switzerland. Four pedicle screws were implanted via a minimally invasive posterior approach procedure. The robot was used to plan the operation, guide the positioning of instruments, and create holes for placing the screws. The system helps to work within densely packed and fragile tissue, offering a steady hand that the surgeon can use to move within challenging anatomy. The company believes its technology will improve spinal surgeries by offering high levels of accuracy. Discovery Channel has had several shows about the spin offs of the Ford Model T assembly lines but the next one on the Yale Key West Surgery + Dentures Assembly lines will be state of the arts with everyone in a NASA designer space suit, grin.
