Biden had spent more than a week receiving treatment at the Walter Reed National Military Medical Center, where he died. V.I.P.s receive worse care! If you saw the Steve Jobs movie you know only 2 women won a award for standing up to Steve Jobs! MD's would not win this award. Beau + Biden ordered green tea... what really happened?

Here in Key West Tom Oosterhoudt who I told to go to Yale Medical School, he refused. Is in the worst shape ever. Tom didn't believe the Inventor of the Electric Windmill Ford because I'm a POW!! He did what stupid Key West Generals told him to do. What really happened to Tom will only be documented if he writes it up. He can write. One other reason I mentioned this is I want to buy his Ford Dealership Building, yes he and his mother live in the Ford Dealership Building Hemingway and Pauline live at waiting for their Ford to be delivered. I will make this a Tourists attraction named. "Hemingway House Ford Dealership"

11-2-2015 Nightly News From Key West with Greg + Wives... Yale wrote up "Slaughterhouse-Five" today. At this moment, Billy becomes "unstuck in time" and he experiences moments from various points in his life. Billy and the other prisoners are transported to Luxembourg. By 1945, the prisoners are transported to Dresden to perform "contract labor". The Germans put Billy and his fellow prisoners in a disused slaughterhouse in Dresden. Their building is known as "Schlachthof-fünf" ("Slaughterhouse Five"). During the bombing, the prisoners of war and German guards hide in a deep cellar. Because of their hiding place, they are some of the few survivors of the firestorm caused by Allied bombing between 13 and 15 February 1945. After the war in May 1945, he is transported from Germany to the United States, receiving an honorable discharge from service in July 1945. A few months after the war ends, Billy is institutionalized with post-traumatic stress disorder and put into psychiatric care to recover. A man named Eliot Rosewater introduces Billy to the novels of an obscure science fiction author named Kilgore Trout. Once Billy is released, he marries Valencia Merble. Valencia's father owns the Ilium School of Optometry, which Billy later attends. In 1947, Billy and Valencia's first child Robert is born and two years later they have a daughter named Barbara. On Barbara's wedding night, Billy is captured by an alien space ship and taken to a planet billions of miles away from Earth called Tralfamadore. The Tralfamadorians are described as being able to see in four dimensions, allowing them to simultaneously observe any and every point in the space-time continuum. They universally adopt a fatalistic worldview. The book adopts the Tralfamadorian philosophy on death, dispassionately saying "so it goes" whenever it refers to someone's demise. On Tralfamadore, Billy is put in a transparent geodesic dome exhibit in a zoo that mimics a house on Earth. The Tralfamadorians later abduct a porn star named Montana Wildhack, who disappeared and is believed to have drowned herself in the Pacific Ocean, with the intention of seeing the two mate. She and Billy fall in love and have a child together. Billy is instantaneously sent back to Earth in a time warp to relive past or future moments of his life. In 1968, Billy and a copilot are the only survivors of a plane crash. Valencia dies of carbon monoxide poisoning while driving to the hospital where Billy is being treated. Billy shares a hospital room with Bertram Rumfoord, a Harvard history professor. Billy eventually talks about the bombing of Dresden and the professor claims it was justified. Billy's daughter takes him home to Ilium. He sneaks out and drives to New York City and checks in to a hotel. That evening he wanders around Times Square and visits a book store featuring pornography. Billy sees some Kilgore Trout books and reads them. That night he goes on a radio show where he starts talking about his time-travels to Tralfamadore and is kicked out of the studio. He returns to his hotel room, falls asleep and time-travels back to 1945 Dresden where the book ends.

City leaders have joined county officials in demanding state transportation officials take a hard look at possible safety hazards that arrived with the five pedestrian crosswalks added to Key West's main thoroughfare last year after it was rebuilt.

City Commissioner Sam Kaufman has co-sponsored a resolution calling for the Florida Department of Transportation to modify the crosswalks, many of which flash yellow lights continuously and sport pedestrian crossing signs along the four-lane stretch of U.S. 1 that is North Roosevelt Boulevard.

"The drivers do not know to stop for the pedestrians," said Kaufman, elected Oct. 6 after spending many mornings at the busy Kennedy Drive intersection campaigning. "I don't think it's the pedestrians' fault. It's obvious that North Roosevelt is designed currently to have the drivers drive
