Pfizer and Allergan are taking steps to sidestep the current rules altogether. Though Pfizer is significantly bigger, with a market value of $199 billion to Allergan's $123 billion, it is Allergan that would technically be the buyer, according to the people briefed on the matter. Because Allergan already has its headquarters in Dublin – even though the bulk of its operations are based in Parsippany, N.J. – the planned transaction could avoid the Treasury rules, which apply to American companies that buy foreign companies. But in most respects, Pfizer would lead the combined company, which would surpass Johnson & Johnson as the biggest drug maker by revenue, with more than $60 billion in sales. Its product portfolio would run from Viagra, Celebrex and pneumonia drugs to Botox and the cosmetic treatment Juvéderm. Analysts do not expect the merger to have much effect on the prices of the companies' drugs.

2 hours 15 minutes should have been 3 hours. Miss Jennifer Lawrence was the winner over President Snow "1984". In the Movies and in real life if Greg + Wives in Key West can write a winner like the movie part 3 is. Killing of their own kids + women via bombs and poison gas exhaust and putting the blame on someone else... Our 1984 II Dictators!!

"The Hunger Games: Mockingjay - Part 2," Jennifer Lawrence does what she must. For four films now, she has played Katniss Everdeen as a reluctant hero and flummoxed lover, caught in a violent revolutionary war and willowy love triangle. Katniss has grown into her role as a savior, an evolution that parallels that of Ms. Lawrence, who entered the series as a Sundance starlet and leaves it as one of the biggest stars in the world. Katniss picking a fight with her dead sisters cat and the cat wins! They both win then. 1984 II Hunger Games!! "The Hunger Games" has triumphed partly because it means so many different things to so many people. It's a story of war and peace, love and bullets, pegged to a girl-woman who fights for her family, her friends and the future. 1984 II. It's aspirational and inspirational, personal and communal, familiar and strange, and it speaks to the past as well as the present, 1984 II Hunger Games for Star Travel inventions to win the Star Wars by inventing a "weapon" that goes 777 times faster than the speed of light!
